Mrs/Mr,

It is with great interest that I have read your call for tenders, believing that I have all the skills sought, I am therefore a candidate.

With three years in the field of programming and IT, I master the main languages for the backend and the frontend, among others: PHP (Laravel), HTML & CSS, JavaScript (Vuejs and React), with a good knowledge of other external knowledge such as (git, API, the Deployment service and many others. I put all my heart into the work to allow companies to benefit from a quality service. Loving my job and doing everything possible to do a great job.

Dynamic, professional, patient, endowed with human qualities, concerned about a job well done with a very good knowledge of English, it is with method and passion that I take an interest in my tasks and understand what the company expects. of me. Being a mania for computer tools, I take real pleasure in using my know-how to carry out my work.

I am at your entire disposal to provide you with additional information and to agree on a possible interview in order to reveal to you my background and my motivations in person. Available now, I hope that my application will hold your full attention and that you will give it a favourable response.

Cordially,
KALUME ERNEST Aristote
